NEW-YORK CITY
The Tribune yesterday received $6.75 for "B. 8.
W. G.," contributed by the comrades of the Edward H. Wade Post, Grand Army of the Republic.

The Municipal Civil Service Board conducted an examination yesterday for attendants at the Ward's Island Insane Asylum. There were twenty-five candidates. They were appointed on probation during September and October, and as they have generally discharged their duties efficiently, it is believed that most if not all of the candidates will be appointed permanently. To-day there will be an examination for matrons at the various institutions under the charge of the Commission of Charities and Correction.

Women have an advocate in Mrs. Lillie Devereux Elake, who is to begin a course of lectures on Sunday evening at Mott Hall, at Madison-ave. and Twentyeighth-st., touching the topics that interest the strongminded of the sex. Her first lecture will be on " The Pilgrim Mothers."

The second day of the law-book auction at Bangs & Co.'s, No. 739 Broadway, was satisfactory. The English common-law reports, 118 volumes, sold for $150, and the English law reports, 188 volumes, for $450. The sales of the afternoon amounted to $1,700.

The annual Christmas book of Hackett, Carhart & Co., the well-known clothing firm at No. 422 Broadway, has appeared. It is tastefully gotten up, and contains the story of "Mr. Santa Claus and the Two

This will be a week of pleasure for the young folks who visit the Eden Musee, beginning to-day. Each child will be presented with a handsome Christmas gift by a real Santa Claus. Besides the whole world in wax and the extensive new art gallery filled with choice paintings, the attractions of the Musee include daily afternoon and evening concerts by Erdelyi Naczi and his Hungarlan orchestra.

Two transfers of real estate were recorded yesterday from William Moir to Emily H. Moir. The first was at Fifth-ave. and Thirtieth-st., the northwest corner, and the second at Fifth ave. and Thirty-first-st., northeast corner. The valuation of the two was $305,000. This is a part of the old Mary J. Morgan

Justice Lawrence, of the Supreme Court, has signed the findings drawn up in accordance with his recent decision constraing the will of Samuel J. Tilden in favor of the Tilden Trust, establishing a free library and reading-room in this city with a fund of $4,000,

Several resolutions vetoed by the Mayor were passed over his head by the Aldermen yesterday. One had been introduced by President Forster, providing for lighting Dash Lane with gas from Riverdale ave to Breadway. Another required the Baltimore and Ohio Company to remove the sheds on Pier No. 27, East River. The veto was based upon the fact that there is pending before the Court of Appeals a case in which the question of removal is involved

The presentation of the American flags to Grammar School No. 67 by Charles A. Hess will take place this morning at 9 o'clock. The school is in Fortieth st., near Ninth-ave.

The Ladies' Art Association will give a reception to-night to Vassili Verestchagin, the Russian artist, at the studios No. 23 East Fourteenth-st.

Commander George L. Dyer, Chief of the Hydro graphic Eureau, United States Navy, visited the Mar time Exchange and the branch office of the department there yesterday.

Texan pecan nuts have arrived in liberal quantities for this market during the last week. New-England got most of the first deliveries. Grenoble and French walnuts, commonly called Madeirs, are unusually plentiful this season, and can be sold cheaply. The erop of prime hickory shellbarks is small this year.

There is no Democrat in this city who will have a bigger laugh on Grover Cleveland than ex-Senato Thomas F. Grady when he drops the "ex," as he In answer to the question, "Is the County Democ racy dead?" Dennis A. Spellissey, the leader in the XVth Assembly District, says: "Faith, no; I had to pay $100 dues last night."

There is as much superstition among curbstone gamblers in Wall Street as in the wilds of Connemara. James A. O'Gorman, president of the Municipal Council of the Irish National League, says that the recent concert in aid of the Parnell Defence Fund

Nathaniel McKay has presented the handsome green silk flag which he brought from Ireland to the Central Irish Organization in this city.

As the Fourth-ave, drawbridge over the Harlem River was being turned yesterday morning, Edward Connelly was struck by a whoel and instantly killed. His home was at No. 633 East One-hundred-and-for

An interesting lecture on "The History of the Great Basin West of the Rocky Mountains" was delivered before the American Geographical Society by Pro-fessor William H. Brewer, of Yale University, yesterday evening. It was illustrated by stereopticon

William Sullivan and Charles Armstrong pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of burglary in breaking into No. 237 East One-hundred-and-ninth-st. on December 9. They carried a bureau and other articles down two flights of stairs, and were detected. Judge Martine sentenced each of the defendants to ten years In the State Prison.

A special committee of Tammany's contingent of the Harlem Democratic Club met last night to consider the constitution which is to be reported to the club on Thursday night. George Wilson, an old and respected resident of the Fourth Ward, who was prominent in politics for many years and was a member of the General Committee of the County Democracy, died at his home, No. 33

Oliver-st., on Monday night, from pneumonia. In consequence of business troubles, Morris Jacobs, a tailor, forty-seven years old, doing business at No. 114 Fulton-st., and living at No. 119 East One-hundred-and-tenth-st., shot himself in the head at his home yesterday morning, and died immediately.

The Tammany Hall Committee on Organization me last night, and selected December 29 as the date for holding primaries, and also received lists of polling places and inspectors of election, which will be sub-mitted to the General Committee at its meeting on Friday night. General John Cochrane occupied the chair, with Thomas F. Gilroy as secretary.

OBJECTING TO THE BIG DAM.

PROFESSOR REMSEN THINKS IT WOULD BE TOO HARD TO CLEAN IT.

The usual array of opposers of the Quaker Bridge Dam. led by Orlands B. Potter and William H. Webb. appeared at the adjourned hearing before the Aqueduct Commissioners yesterday. General H. E. Tremain and ex-Judge William H. Arnoux acted as counsel, and Professor Ira Remsen, of Johns Hopkins University. Chief Engineer Charles H. Haswell, United States Navy, and Robert L. Darragh were called as expert witnesses. Professor Remsen described the growth of a spongy substance which he had discovered in a small reservoir in Baltimore which unpleasantly affected the taste of the water. It was, he said, caused by decomposing animal matter, and this accumulated rapidly. This kind of fungi was common in artificial lakes and reservoirs and not peculiar to natural bodies of water. The counsel endeavored to draw from the witness the conclusion that similar fungi would grow in the Quaker Bridge Dam with like results. The witness thought that the erection of the great dam would be a mistake, as the water would have to be all drawn off to clean it of this animal growth. A number of small dams would be prefer-

Chief Engineer Haswell said that he was familiar that a great flood in 1841 had carried away the Croton Asked, however, if the same accident was

Dam. Asked, however, if the same accident was likely to happen to a dam 165 feet high, he said that it would depend entirely upon the strain to which it would be subjected. He saw no objection to the plans prepared by Engineer Church for the Quaker Bridge Dam, but believed that there was no necessity for its being built at present. The smaller reservoirs, with a storage capacity of 14,000,000,000, allows, would be amply sufficient for many years.

Robert L. Darragh, the well-known contractor, who came near being an Aqueduct Commissioner himself last August, when the Mayor hesitated between him and Mr. Tucker, declared himself in favor of the small dams and against the big one. He produced a bottle of dirty water which he said that he had extracted from 600 gallons of pure Croton. In closing his testimony Mr. Darragh said that if the city could be assured of good water he wouldn't mind the cost of the Quaker Bridge Dam.

The inquiry was adjourned to Friday at 11 a. m.

TO SELL VEGETABLES AND FRUITS BY WEIGHT. The ordinance which requires that the sale of all vegetables, fruits and berries in the City of New-York shall hereafter be by weight instead of measurement, and that the weight and contents of every package shall be legibly marked thereon, was passed by the Board of Aldermen yesterday, by a vote of 14 to 5. It must have the Mayor's approval before going into effect.

It does not take much money to buy an overcoat while there remains some of those smooth-faced ones we recently marked down to $12 and $18 from prices in many cases double those figures.

But it is of our finest rough-faced Overcoats you need to hear; $25 to $45. Look at them and say if they are not up to the mark of custom garments. Lower cost overcoats we have, of course, and those we sell for $15 are excellent in every way. Our stock of "Lord Chumley" Cape Ulsters is once more replenished.

Christmas is almost here. So hard to find gifts for men. You will not say that after looking at our English Dressing Gowns and House Coats, our Silver-Mounted Canes and Silk Umbrellas, Silk Mufflers, Fine Suspenders, Gloves and Handkerchiefs.

More of the two-dollar "Medlicott" Underwear for $1.25 came from the mill yesterday.
